

Analysis of Case Processing Performance in the Supreme Court of Maryland

September Term, 2023

Administrative Office of the Courts

November 2024

Introduction

The case processing goals adopted by the Supreme Court of Maryland provide that all cases argued<sup>a</sup> (or filed, depending on the appeal type) during a Term are to be decided before the Term's completion. This goal is similar to that of the Supreme Court of the United States and is an expansion of the Judiciary's commitment, which began in the trial courts, to ensure timely adjudication for all those with business before the courts. Case time standards are central to the Maryland Judiciary's mission to provide fair, efficient, and effective justice for all.

This report contains performance results compared against the Court's case time standards for September Term, 2023.

Methodology

Case processing performance in the Supreme Court of Maryland is based on all cases argued (or filed for certain types of appeals) during the Court's September Term, 2023.<sup>b</sup> The Court's case time standards begin at the date of argument for appeals on its Regular Docket, Certified Questions of Law, and Attorney Grievance cases, and at filing for Miscellaneous Appeals and Bar Admissions Character Matters. See Appendix for the complete table of case time standards in the Supreme Court of Maryland.

Research staff pull data directly from the Maryland Electronic Courts (MDEC) case management system and then enter the pertinent data fields from all cases filed or argued during the September 2023 Term, including case number, caption (case title), argument date, filing date, and disposition date (opinion, dismissal, or other order/disposition) into data analysis software. Data quality checks were performed comparing the case information entered into data analysis software to the docket sheets and to the electronic record in the MDEC system.

Research staff calculated the number and percentage of appeals disposed within standard as a proportion of the total number of cases argued or filed (depending on the appeal type) during the Court's September Term, 2023. Average and median case processing times for all disposed cases were also computed.

Performance Results

The Supreme Court of Maryland achieved the case time standard goal in each of the appeal types during the September Term, 2023. See Table 1 and Table 2. Thirty-one Regular Docket cases were disposed within the Term, averaging 148 days from argument to disposition. The largest number of cases disposed this term were Miscellaneous Appeals, with 55 filed in the September 2023 Term. All Miscellaneous Appeals reached disposition within the Term and averaged 27 days from filing to disposition.

Two Attorney Grievance cases contained arguments, and both were decided within the Term, taking an average of 43 days from argument to disposition. There were two Bar Admission Character Matters cases filed in the Court in the September Term, 2023; each was disposed within that Term, taking an average of 67 days from filing to disposition. For the September 2023 Term, there were no Certified Question of Law argued.

<sup>b</sup> The Court disposed of a number of cases during the period examined (September 1, 2023, through August 31, 2024) that did not contain an argument. These cases were not subject to this analysis.
