Updating or Verifying Phone and Text Alert Numbers for County/City employees (POIs)

Business	This is the phone number that either rings on your desk or is the department group line. This should be a number that is answered by a person in the office rather than an automated phone system. This will be the preferred contact number for most employees. Include your extension if applicable.
Main	If your position requires you to spend most of the day away from your desk, and you wish your phone calls to go to a number other than your Business number, it should be entered as the Main number, and marked as preferred .
Mobile	This is your personal cell phone number and should not be marked as preferred. Note: Simply having a mobile phone number listed does not enroll you in the text alert system
Home	This is your home phone number and should not be marked as preferred.
Text Alert	This number is used by the text alert system to notify you in the event of a delayed opening or building closure. It should not be marked as preferred.

10) Below is an example of how your phone numbers should appear in the system:
