

Christine M. Uslin – ADR Resources Coordinator

Christine assists in managing the Alternative Dispute Resolution Evaluation Support System (ADRESS), a web-based data collection and reporting system. Additionally, Christine focuses on projects designed to advance alternative dispute resolution in courts, communities, and state and local government agencies.

Christine came to MACRO via the Circuit Courts for Anne Arundel and Baltimore Counties, where she managed the Courts' civil, non-domestic and family mediation programs. She enjoys using data collection and analysis to promote the effectiveness of alternative dispute resolution and assist with program development and improvement.

Christine graduated summa cum laude from Suffolk University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Sociology, double minors in Psychology and Politics, Law, and the Courts, and a concentration in Crime and Justice. In addition to her various roles in conflict resolution throughout Maryland, she has worked as an adult educator in the New Mexico Department of Corrections, Carroll Community College, and Anne Arundel Community College.

When she's not in front of a spreadsheet or at the mediation table, Christine enjoys spending time with her family, including her partner, Stephen, two stepsons, and two dogs.
